

Press release.

cablex is ready to process demanding customer projects more efficiently and to open up new markets.

cablex is reorganising its infrastructure business sector. The focus here is on new offers and easier cooperation with customers. In order to be prepared to meet future challenges, different departments are being merged and arranged in a new organisational unit.

cablex is ensuring in this way that it will be in a position to offer major infrastructure projects independently and reduce its dependence on partners. What this means for customers is fewer interfaces and efficient project handling.

The new organisational unit was established on 1 January 2023 and customers can benefit immediately.
