connected for the future

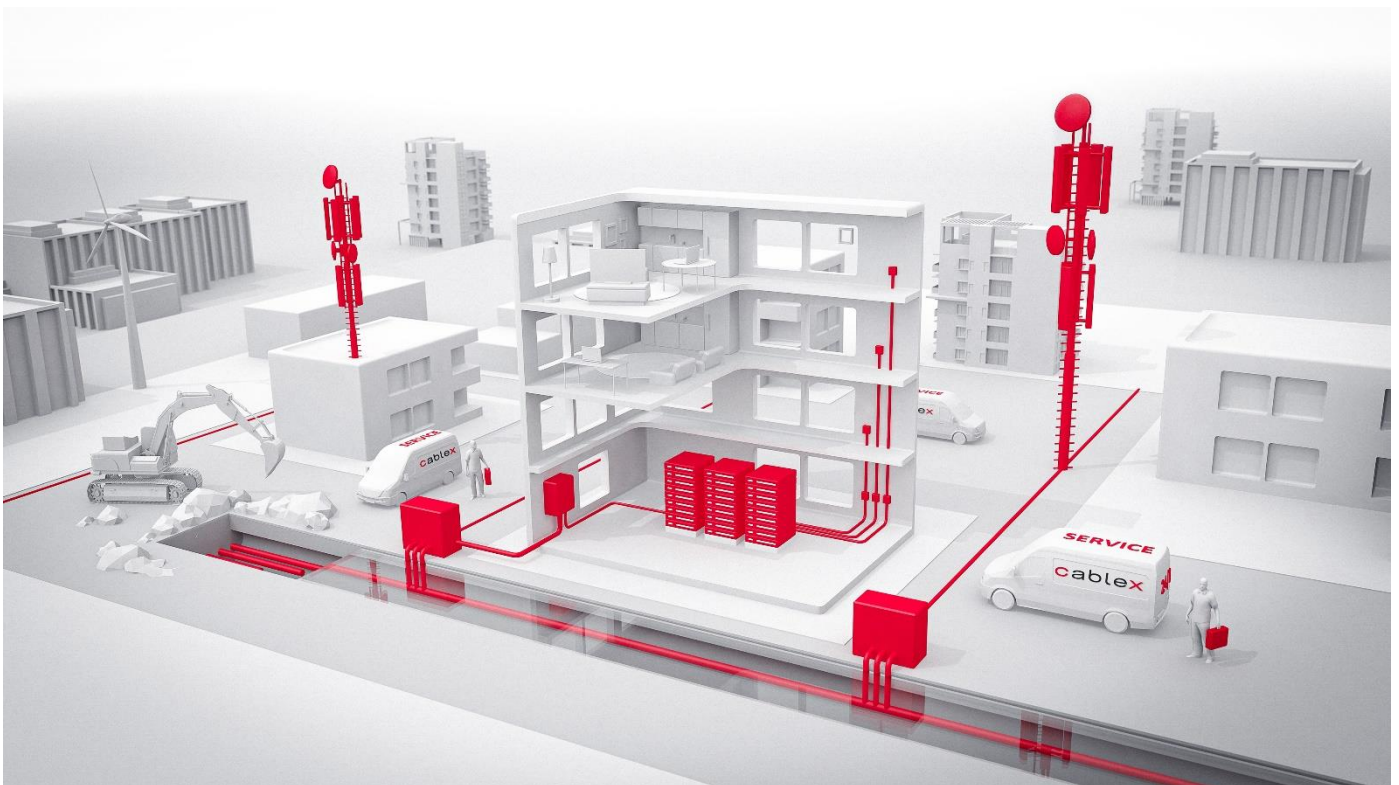

Your mobile network – our priority!

Through innovative solutions and by striving for the highest quality, we create the ideal conditions for a modern and always-available mobile network.

The digital transformation of the economy is driving the trend towards automated data exchange and reconciliation via mobile infrastructure. The amount of mobile data that we use is increasing constantly. This presents increasing challenges for mobile infrastructure as availability must be guaranteed at all times and at all locations, and expanding capacities must be met.

Mobile networks are being modernised and expanded constantly to meet the ever-increasing demands of our digital life.

A good network needs a strong foundation, and for that foundation you need a partnership that covers the full spectrum of services. As a full-service provider, cablex plans, builds, modernises and maintains mobile networks throughout Switzerland.

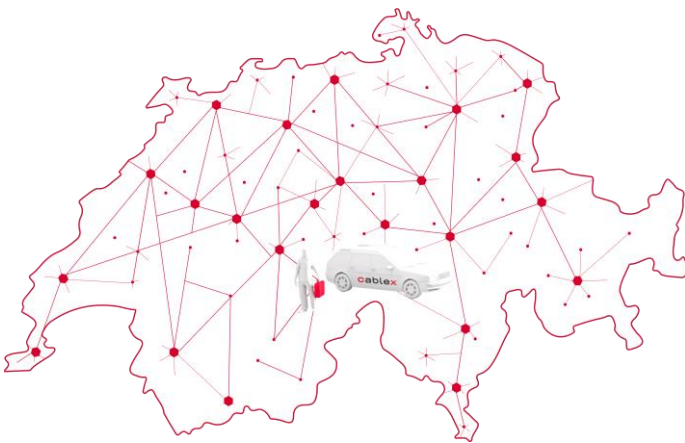

We make your challenges our mission.

We have been planning, building, optimising and maintaining mobile networks for leading network operators and telecommunications providers for over 20 years. What distinguishes us is our professionalism, flexibility, adherence to high quality standards and competent project management throughout the entire life cycle of your infrastructure.

We cover the entire portfolio and ensure reception for your customers at all times. Outdoor or indoor installations, private 5G networks, campus solutions, temporary solutions for major events – our technicians are hard at work for you and your customer base. Whether it's in the city or the country, up in the mountains, in rail or road tunnels or in facilities such as hospitals, underground car parks, industrial installations or schools.

From site acquisition to maintenance, cablex AG's professional services cover any and every requirement relating to your network infrastructure.

We are ready and available for you throughout Switzerland and can provide our services quickly and reliably, wherever you are based.

Services for your benefit.

We reduce your load.

Mobile operators face the challenge of ensuring the service experience and stability of the mobile connection at all times while using digitalisation, sourcing models and efficiency improvements to keep costs under control. It is their task to turn the complex structures that exist between people and technology into a competitive edge. The technology itself is the means to this end. cablex operates every day this environment and offers tailored services that help you achieve your efficiency and cost targets.

Other services.

- Preventive maintenance of your mobile network. This includes the entire infrastructure including electrical installations, air conditioning, power supply , router, masts and safety equipment
- Upkeep and servicing during ongoing operation, for example maintenance and corrective measures to safeguard the security, availability and durability of the infrastructure
- Construction of supplementary mobile radio network locations (COWs) for events
- Measurement of customer systems and quality assurance

As a network operator, you can focus on your core business while the specialists from cablex work on your behalf. Centrally organised, locally anchored – all activities are carried out by employees from the region. As a result, we enjoy a high level of acceptance among municipalities, local authorities and home owners.

Your mobile infrastructure is in good hands with us: Availability, stability and quality are at the heart of everything we do.
